“The Singing Hinnies and The Lost Recipe”

Miss Smith has asked her maid to make her favourite sweet treat – Singing Hinnies.

Unfortunately, her maid has lost her prized recipe. Can you help the maid to find the ingredients around The 1900s Town?

Find six ingredients and learn about early 1900s food. Then complete the recipe at the end of the booklet.

Find the Annfield Plain Co-operative Society, look up to see the sign!

Grains from these plants grew in Canada. What can grains become?

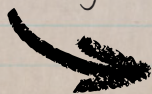

Go to the grocery department.

The maid recalls an ingredient that must stay cool.

Find marble slabs with black writing in the shop.

Which ingredient should you avoid melting?

Her next ingredient is sourced from Greece. Follow the ribbon from Europe - which ingredient does it lead to?

In the grocery department window, do you see a map?

Many goods were imported from around the world with the expansion of the British Empire making it easier for people to access various ingredients.

The maid adds a pinch of an ingredient produced in India.

Follow the ribbon!
What is it?

Go outside!
This product normally gets delivered fresh every morning.

Can you find anything near the carriage house to help the maid remember?

Ask an Engager why we call them 'Singing Hinnies'

Another ingredient comes from India. They come in large containers.

Miss Smith drinks a warm cup of this while eating her Singing Hinnies.

Finally, head over to the chemist's just round the corner!

The maid has all her main ingredients, but is missing one thing which will help them rise.

Can you see an ingredient in the shop window which is often used in baking?
